BLANKS HERE FOR TRAINING CAMPS

Rush County Young Men May Make
Application for Citizens' Military
Training School

GUY NEWMAN HAS BLANKS

Government Will Defray All Expenses For Month's Outing, if
Application is Accepted

Lieutenant Guy Newman of this city has received a supply of application blanks, which provides an opportunity to competent young men of this vicinity for a month of camp life offered in the citizens' military training camps this summer.

Reports from all over the state are to the effect that the opportunity to attend the summer camps is being enthusiastically embraced by the young men from several counties.

The government offers to pay all expenses including, transportation to and from the camp and to furnish uniforms, arms and equipment as well as food, and necessary medical attention. In other words all necessary expenses are paid by Uncle Sam.

The young man is returned to his home after a month of camp life and he is under no further obligations to the government than if he had remained at home idle. Those who are fortunate enough to be selected will in addition to the pleasure of a month of camp life return to their homes with stronger physiques, with a knowledge of sanitation and how to care for themselves in the field. They will have met young men from various parts of the country and formed new friendships. They will have learned the rudiments of military science and fitted themselves to assume in case of war a more responsible position.

The government expends all the money necessary to carry on these camps because in the long run, ample returns are assured in improved citizenship, a stronger, cleaner manhood, a more devoted patriotism and in numbering among its young men a certain number who in time of emergency have a knowledge of military affairs.

Three courses will be given designated as the Red, White and Blue courses beginning about August 1.

Final selection of the successful applicants will be made shortly by the commanding general, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

DIVORCE CASES ARE HEARD IN COURT TODAY

Defendant Defaults in First Suit,
Blanch Alsman Against Thomas
Alsman, Set For Hearing

PETITION FOR A GUARDIAN

Several divorce suits were set for trial in the circuit court today, and the first one that was being heard this morning was the case of Blanch Alsman against Thomas Alsman, and several witnesses were in the court room to testify at the trial. Other suits set for today were Jones vs. Jones and Jacobs vs. Jacobs.

The Alsman case was being tried without the defendant who defaulted. The parties in the action are residents of East Eighth street, and Mrs. Alsman seeks a divorce on grounds of cruel treatment. Accusations made by her husband, she declares are untrue.

Mary Watkins, formerly Mary Buckner, has filed a suit in the court against her divorced husband, Quincy Buckner, in which she seeks to have a court judgment set aside, concerning the disposition of property following the divorce.

Mahala Edwards is plaintiff in a petition filed in court against William E. Edwards, asking that the court appoint a guardian for the defendant, who is alleged to be a person of unsound mind, and incapable of managing his affairs.

SEVEN COUNTIES IN CENTURY-OLD CLASS

Decatur, Shelby, Henry, Morgan,
Marion, Rush and Putnam to
Celebrate Centennial This Year

KNOX COUNTY IS THE OLDEST

Rush county will not be the only one in Indiana celebrating a centennial this year. Six others will pass into the century-old class before the year 1922 is ended—Decatur, Shelby, Henry, Morgan, Marion and Putnam.

Morgan county was one hundred years old in March and Rush county was organized in April 1822. In the course of a few more months, a total of forty-four counties—or nearly one-half of the state—will have observed centennials. Indiana has ninety-two counties.

The oldest county in Indiana is Knox, which is 132 years old. It became a county in 1799. Clark followed eleven years later. Dearborn came two years after Clark and Harrison and Jefferson and Franklin and others followed. The growth of the state in counties from then on was rapid.

Counties which either have passed the one hundred year mark already or will do so before the end of the present year are Knox, Clark, Dearborn, Harrison, Jefferson, Franklin, Wayne, Warrick, Gibson, Washington, Switzerland, Posey, Perry, Jackson, Orange, Sullivan, Jennings, Pike, Daviess, Dubois, Spencer, Vanderburg, Vigo, Crawford, Lawrence, Monroe, Ripley, Randolph, Owen, Fayette, Floyd, Scott, Martin, Union, Greene, Bartholomew, Parke, Morgan, Decatur, Shelby, Rush, Marion, Putnam and Henry.

SURPLUS OF COAL HAS WORN DOWN

More Than 20,000,000 Tons Have
Been Eaten From Reserve
Since The Strike Began

40,000,000 TONS REMAIN

Five More Weeks Will See Threatened Fuel Shortage Material-
izing it is Stated

By FRED G. JOHNSTON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 13.—More than 20,000,000 tons of coal has been eaten from the reserve with which the nation embarked into the great coal strike six weeks ago.

Five more weeks will see the threatened fuel shortage materializing, it was said at United Mine Workers headquarters here today.

The 63,000,000 ton surplus on hand when the suspension started April 1, has been worn down—despite non-union production—to approximately 40,000,000 tons.

The rate of consumption has been 8,000,000 tons a week, half of which was mined in the open shop fields.

When the existing surplus is cut in half five weeks hence, the industrial pulse of America will begin to flutter from lack of coal, it was said. The reserve of 20,000,000 tons on hand at that time will be the lowest in recent history of the nation and will result in a rapidly rising market.

"Then the government will have to step in and protect the public, a union official declared. He said the war time fuel administration may have to be revived next fall to regulate the price and distribution of coal, when the railroads are jammed with orders and the entire market will be congested with certain sections of the country actually suffering.

The strike with 650,000 men out has, developed into a fight between the mine owners and their employees to determine whether the workers can be forced to surrender before a coal shortage with its accompanying public clamor forces the operators into interstate wage negotiations demanded by the miners.

In order to speed the shortage and end the strike, the union is seeking to organize non-union fields. That work had been slowed today with open shop production striking a temporary level around 4,000,000 tons a week.

SENATOR WATSON TO BE KEYNOTER

Consents to Act as Temporary
Chairman of Republican State
Convention and Make Speech

AT BEVERIDGE'S REQUEST

Governor McCray, Senatorial Nom-
inee, Mayor Shank and Mrs.
Corrinne Robinson to Speak

Indianapolis, Ind., May 13.—Senator James E. Watson, at the request of Albert J. Beveridge, Republican nominee for United States senator, and a special committee headed by State Chairman Lawrence Lyons, consented yesterday to deliver the keynote address at the party's state convention in Tomlinson hall, May 24 and 25. Edmund M. Wasmuth of Huntington, who retired this week as state chairman, is to be the permanent chairman of the convention.

The other speakers on the program for the first day of the convention, other than Senator Watson are Governor McCray, Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson of New York city, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt; Charles A. Bookwalter of Indianapolis and Mayor Shank.

Ex-Senator Beveridge will speak on the second day of the convention.

Senator Watson hesitated in accepting the responsibility of making the keynote address, it was announced by Chairman Lyons, as he feared he would not have time to prepare the speech because of his work in the senate committees. The Indiana keynote speech is of special importance, it has been pointed out, because the Hoosier convention will be the first important party gathering in the country.

Details of the convention program were worked out at a meeting of Chairman Lyons, State Secretary Frederick E. Schortemeier, and four members of the state committee, Daily E. McCoy of Versailles, Clyde A. Walb of Lagrange, Lawrence Cartwright of Portland and William E. Reiley of Indianapolis, at the Hotel Severin.

The members of this arrangements committee conferred with Mr. Beveridge at his home before the meeting. They later talked to Senator Watson over the telephone and informed him that he was the unanimous choice of Mr. Beveridge and the committee to serve as temporary chairman.

Spends Friday in Schools

William E. Jones, supervisor of music in the Shelbyville public schools, visited the music department of the Rushville schools Friday and expressed great interest in the presentation of the sight-reading of music to the primary grade pupils. He complimented Miss Sarah I. McConnell, Rushville supervisor, on his phase of the work here.

Mr. Jones also heard the junior orchestra in rehearsal and said afterwards that the youngsters played with wonderful intonation. The orchestra will play at the second All School concert to be given at the Graham Annex auditorium one week from tonight.

TWO MEETINGS OF MEN'S BIBLE CLASSES

Gatherings Similar to One Here Last
Year Will be Held at Shelbyville
and Connersville

B. E. SMITH, CHICAGO, TO TALK

Two meetings of Men's Bible classes similar to the great meeting held here in the Coliseum last year, are to be held in the Connersville district this year. The first of these will be held in the First M. E. church, Shelbyville, Sunday afternoon, the second in the First M. E. church, Connersville on May 21. Each meeting will embrace half the district, and will include seventeen charges. A difference from last year's meeting will be that classes of larger boys, over fifteen, will be included this year.

The principal speaker for these meetings, the Rev. Bert E. Smith of Chicago, the head of the adult department of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, has expressed great interest in the gatherings, as they are the first of the kind held in rural territory and will serve as a suggestion for similar meetings throughout the country.

The meetings have been arranged by Dr. John M. Walker, superintendent of the Connersville district, who will preside at both places. The men's and larger boys' classes of St. Paul's M. E. church of this city, will attend the meeting at Connersville, and the orchestra of St. Paul's Sunday school, under the leadership of A. P. Wagoner, will furnish a half hour's program at the Connersville meeting, beginning at 2:15.

TO WORRY ALONG WITH LESS MONEY

Rush County Tax Collections Will
be Approximately $30,000 Less,
Spring Installment Shows

EXPENSES ARE REDUCED

Few Exceptions in Townships Where
New Roads Were Started and
First Bonds Due This Year

Rush county is going to worry along on about $30,000 less money this year than she did last year.

This is indicated by the spring collection of taxes which amounted to $549,054.26 as compared with $564,400.13 paid on the first installment during the spring of 1921, a difference of $15,345.87.

This decrease in current taxes paid shows that the expenses of the various townships and corporations have been reduced this year, which made possible lower tax rates.

The assumption that tax collections for the year 1922 will be $30,000 less than 1921 is based on the fact that the two installments are equally divided and that the fall collections will show practically the same reduction as the spring collections.

This is not taking into consideration the sequestered taxes which were paid this year and were not included in last spring's installment. They amount to several thousand dollars and would tend further to reduce the current taxes collected this spring.

While some of the townships paid more taxes this spring than they did last, the majority of them show a substantial reduction. Rushville city is an exception, the current taxes this spring amounting to $92,210.87 as compared with $87,707.10 last spring. More than half of this increase is due, however, to sequestered taxes which have been paid since the close of the fall tax-paying period of 1921.

Posey, Orange, Anderson, Rushville and Richland townships are also exceptions, but the remainder of the townships and Glenwood and Carthage showed reductions in collections this spring which offset these increases, with $15,000 to spare.

The increases in these townships in the main are due to new roads which were started last year and on which the first bonds are falling due this year.

The collections by townships this

CHICAGO POLICE TURN TABLES ON 2 BANDITS

"Shoot to Kill" Orders of Police
Bring Results Today When
Holdup Men Are Slain

SUSPECTS IN LABOR WAR HELD

Chicago, Ill., May 13.—Police turned tables in the war with gunmen early today when two bandits were shot and killed.

"Shoot to kill" orders of Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris brought results when policemen killed two highway men. Policeman Kearney Driscoll killed John Broda, 19, following a holdup. Broda tried to shoot the officer but Driscoll beat him to the draw.

An unidentified robber was shot to death by Policeman Patrick O'Connell during an attempted holdup. O'Connell in a fight was shot in the shoulder. Both men killed were identified by men who had been robbed.

Five persons were held today and questioned with regards to the labor war which resulted in the deaths of the two policemen. The suspects were grilled in an effort to get important evidence in the recent labor war which resulted in the death of the two policemen.

NO DAMAGE FROM STORM

No damage was reported today from the storm which visited Rush county late Friday evening. It was particularly severe in Rushville, a heavy rain being accompanied by several flashes of lightning.

Governor Samuel Bigger

Elected in 1840 While Resident of Rushville and Served One Term, But Was Defeated for Re-
election. Gov. Bigger Was Born in Ohio, Came to This City in 1830 After Residence in Liberty
and Served as Representative in Legislature and Judge of Circuit Court.

By J. T. ARBUCKLE

The local sources of information regarding the life of Governor Bigger are somewhat meager, and it became necessary to draw upon the State Library and from "W. W. Woolen's Biographical and Historical Sketches of Early Indiana," and also from "Indiana Governors," in addition to what has been obtained locally, and from these sources we learn that Samuel Bigger was born in Warren county, Ohio, March 20, 1802. He was the eldest son of John Bigger, a western pioneer and for many years a member of the Ohio legislature.

The son loved his books, was fonder of them than of farm work, a disposition which remained with him while he lived. When eighteen years old he contracted a deep cold which settled on his lungs and came near costing him his life. His feeble health unfitted him for manual labor and determined his father to qualify him for a profession. He was prepared for college in the neighborhood and then entered Athens, O., University from which he graduated with honor. Subsequently he studied law and in 1829 removed to Liberty, Indiana, and commenced the practice of his profession. He remained at Liberty but a short time, when he removed to Rushville where his public life began.

His home while in Rushville was on the bluff overlooking the Platteau valley, and stood a short distance west of where the Washington school building now stands. The old well is still there, and until recently two large locust trees marked the spot of the home. He was elected to the legislature from Rush county in 1834, and re-elected in 1835. In the legislature of 1834 Mr. Bigger was a candidate for speaker of the house, his opponent being Colonel James Gregory. On the first ballot he received 37 votes and Colonel Gregory received 38 votes, and one vote was cast scattering. The vote continued about even until the sixth ballot, when Colonel Gregory was elected. The next year Mr. Bigger was chosen judge of the Rush circuit court and served acceptably until called to a higher office.

In 1840 he was nominated for governor by the Whig state convention and after an exciting race, was elected, beating Gen. Tilghman of Parke county, who was a native of South Carolina. He was a candidate for re-election in 1843 and was de-

Indiana Crop Report

Indianapolis, Ind. May 12. —Winter wheat, rye and tame hay in Indiana show a considerable increase in the indicated production over the final output of these crops for 1921 according to reports for May 1, received by the co-operative crop reporting service and made public today. Rye and hay acreages show a small increase over last year, but the wheat acreage is somewhat less. Spring plowing and planting are far behind the usual schedule and practically no corn ground is prepared. Live stock is about as usual except the mortality of swine during the past year was quite heavy. The report follows:—

Of the 2,053,000 acres seeded to wheat last fall, there will be abandoned approximately 102,000 acres or 5.0%, according to reports received to May 1, leaving 1,951,000 acres for harvest, compared with 2,012,000 acres harvested in 1921 and 2,070,000 acres harvested in 1920. The principal reason for abandonment is attributed to floods and excessive rains filling low places in fields and killing the plants. Hessian fly damage was reported from only a few localities and practically no damage was caused by freezing weather during the winter. The condition of the crop on May 1, was 89 percent of normal and indicates a total production for the state of 34,942,000 bushels, which is about the average for the State. The final estimate of last year's production was 24,144,000 bushels.

The rye acreage for grain in Indiana this year amounts to 315,000 acres and is an increase of approximately 9,000 acres over last year. The condition was 93 percent of normal on May 1, and indicates a total production of 4,809,000 bushels, compared with 3,972,000 bushels harvested last year and 3,892,000 in 1920.

The tame hay acreage in Indiana shows an increase of approximately 67,000 acres over last year and amounts to 2,316,000 acres. The wild hay acreage is practically the same as last year and amounts to approximately 21,000 acres. The condition of all hay on May 1 was 94 percent of normal and indicates a production of 3,222,000 tons of tame hay and 27,000 tons of wild hay. Last year's final estimate on the production of tame hay was 2,429,000 tons and in 1920 it was 2,844,000 tons. The wild hay estimate for last year was 22,000 tons and for 1920 it was 26,000 tons. There is 14.5 percent of last year's crop still on farms and amounts to approximately 355,000 tons which is somewhat in excess of the usual amount at this time of the year.

Up to May 1, only 29 percent of the plowing for spring planting and sowing had been done in the state, all of which was seeded to oats or barley. No corn ground had been prepared at this time. For this date it is the least ground under preparation for many years, and is attributed to wet condition of the soil resulting from heavy and continuous rains during March and April.

Pastures, on May 1, were reported at 93 percent of normal in Indiana, compared with 92 percent for the same date last year.

The mortality of live stock in Indiana during the past year was slightly in excess of the rate for the preceding year, being 18 per 1,000 for horses and mules from disease; for cattle it was 18 per 1,000 from disease and 5 per 1,000 for exposure; for sheep it was 26 per 1,000 from disease and 10 per 1,000 from exposure; for lambs it was 53 per 1,000 from both disease and exposure. Swine of all ages shows a very heavy mortality rate for the year, being 78 per 1,000 from disease and is attributed to a severe outbreak of cholera in practically all sections of the state late last fall.

The condition of live stock in Indiana on May 1, compared with normal was 96 percent for horses and mules, 95 percent for cattle, 93 percent for sheep and 92 percent for swine.

Farm conditions in Indiana have changed but little during the month. Practically all the oats were seeded from two to three weeks later than usual and have no corn ground worth mentioning has been prepared to date, which may have a tendency to decrease the acreage of this important crop. Conditions in the bottom lands are far from satisfactory as operations there cannot be started before the middle of the month, because of the wet soil.

TRYING TO BREAK UP SECRET ORGANIZATION

"The Shifters" Activities Are Bringing Inquiries by Parents, According to Principal

FORBIDDEN BY H. S. RULES

(By United Press)
Terre Haute, Ind., May 13.—School authorities in Terre Haute are trying to break up an organization known as "The Shifters," which has been recruiting members rapidly in the past few weeks among students and young people who are not in school.

The organization without a fad as it is known by national educational leaders, is beginning to bring inquiries by parents, according to Principal Conner of the Wiley high school.

"Under school rules, forbidding the organizing of secret organizations among the students, 'The Shifters' is forbidden," Conner said today.

I think it is just a fad. Members that we have asked to give up the pins have done so willingly, but we are trying to check the thing."

INDIANA HEALTH EXPOSITION MAY 19

Many Lives Saved by Reason of Visual Education Exemplified in Exposition, is Belief

OF SCIENTIFIC NATURE

Program Will Include More Than Six Thousand People in Demonstrations, Playlets, Etc.

"Live a Little Longer" is the slogan adopted by the Indiana Health Exposition, which will be held at the State Fair Ground in Indianapolis, Indiana, May 19-27. Dr. J. N. Hurty, State Health Commissioner, is of the opinion that ten thousand lives may be saved annually in Indiana by reason of visual education exemplified in this exposition. Chambers of Commerce throughout the state have been requested to appoint co-operating committees on the subject of the exposition in order that its lessons may be brought home to every community. The exposition will be of a popular scientific nature and will exemplify the progress made during the past twenty-five years in medicine, surgery, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, hospitalization and social service. More than ninety state and national organizations will participate. Each city which has an institution performing some specific health service, which might properly be exemplified in this exposition is offered exhibit space in the exposition without charge.

The program of the exposition will include more than six thousand people in demonstrations, exercises, health playlets and the like.

The production of the exposition will cost in the neighborhood of two hundred thousand dollars, borne by private subscriptions and admissions, which will be placed at a nominal figure.

Indiana and Purdue Universities are preparing splendid exhibits having to do with medicine, child hygiene, dairy products and nutrition.

The United States Bureau of Mines, United States Public Health Service, Bureau of Standards and other government departments will be represented with exhibits of health and safety work. The main features of the Indiana Health Exposition will be taken to Portland, Oregon for reproduction in the Oregon State Health Exposition next October.

Romance In Dishpans

Indianapolis, May 13.—Look for romance in the dishpan, girls, in the oven while the pies are baking or down the drain pipe of the kitchen sink.

You'll find it there just as quickly as in the seclusion of a study, Mrs. S. R. Artman, president of the May Wright Sewell council declared today discussing how women may have other interest outside the home without interfering with their household duties.

"In all the years that I have been keeping house and doing active club work, I have learned that romance may be woven over a dishpan as in a study and poems pinned to the kitchen walls may be memorized while my pies are baking," Mrs. Artman said, "and I don't burn my pies either."

"My typewriter is kept in the kitchen where it may be used during every spare moment.

"I believe that much of the so-called drudgery of housework would be eliminated if women would concentrate their minds on some pleasant worth-while though while they perform such menial tasks as sweeping, dusting and washing dishes, instead of letting their thoughts wander aimlessly."

"The Broken Spur" Mystic.

The big outdoors is always interesting. In their feature for today, the Mystic theatre is showing a picture laid in the great forests, valleys and mountains of the Northwest. Nature in her majestic grandeur is unfolded upon the screen. The laying of a railroad in this virgin country with its many men, horses and steam shovels feverishly working like a lot of ants; the cutting down of big trees and then sawing them up into merchantable lumber, are all shown as they are really taking place in this storehouse of nature. To this are added the beautiful views of the forests, the streams, the mountains and peaceful valleys. With Jack Hoxie as the featured player, supported by an excellent cast, "The Broken Spur" is a strong, interesting Western picture.

Say It Now.

Some one we know is going to die some time.
Their good deeds will appeal to us, and will be emphasized by the death hat overtakes our friends.
Before the grass begins to grow over them we will have many kind words to say to them. Their sterling qualities will be extolled, and their faults will be overlooked or forgotten.
That is the way of the world.
But it might be different. We might commend their good qualities while they are still here to reap the benefits of that commendation.
A kind word means much to those who are striving to do right. It encourages them to remain steadfast in their laudable undertakings, to persevere in the path of honor, and to extend a helping hand to others who need more enlightenment.
Say it to them in life. They can't hear you when dead.

Hothouse Plants.

Some fond parents make a great mistake. They bring their children up as they would hothouse plants.
They are continually kept indoors, are seldom allowed to enjoy the companionship of other children, and are denied that life in the open that puts red blood into human veins.
Years later, when they develop weak or abnormal minds, or show a lack of capacity for success in the world of affairs, their deficiencies become a handicap to them and a source of grief to the parents who could have prevented such a condition had they adopted the right course in the beginning.
The sun shines for little children as well as for adults. Let them enjoy it to the full if you would have them justify the love and devotion you bestow upon them.

European Relief

In one last desperate effort to drag the United States into European entanglements, the internationalists have at last begun to quote the former crown prince of Germany. The Lords and Ladies of the British Empire join with the Hun and the Bolshevik in the plea to the United States to come and bear their burdens, pay their debts, turn their grindstones, fight their battles, settle their quarrels, and become the world's great goat. It would be funny if there could be anything humorous in a spectacle so utterly ridiculous.

SAP AND SALT
BY Bert Mose
Sap and Salt in the Woods, Ashland, Oregon.

Good women and good books are the hope of the human race.

The trouble with a lot of us is that we believe more than we know.

No one can progress at anything without constantly working at it.

Most chairs seem to have been made by men who knew nothing of human anatomy.

We see more of women than we used to, but that doesn't help us to understand them any better.

Old thought is good, and so is new thought, but common sense is infinitely better than both varieties combined.

PEOPLE'S SAYSO

Would Like to be at Centennial

Dear Sir: A friend living in your beautiful town sent us one of your papers of the 20th of April, in which you gave a history of William B. Laughlin, my grandfather, as being entitled to be called the first and most prominent citizen of Rushville and Rush county.

My father was Harmony Laughlin and I am the last of the family of eight, four boys and four girls, four blue-eyed and four black-eyed, four right-handed and four left-handed. I belong to the blue-eyed and left-handed part of the family. I am very much pleased to know that the article was written by an old school teacher, Claude Cambern, of mine and whose father was our beloved pastor for many years and his mother was a great friend of my mother and the whole family were lovely Christians.

We would love to be at the Centennial there, hoping that it will be a success. I remain,

Yours respectfully,
KATE LAUGHLIN BLISS.

The Farmer's Plight.

It is a grave error to think that evils of long standing will cure themselves of their own accord. It is also a grievous error to imagine that these evils cannot "come back." Men who are great leaders in reform movements grow old, or die, or land in jail, or sell out to the opposition; but the evils go on, seemingly, forever.

Board of Trade and Stock Exchange in Chicago and New York cities are as closely related as were the Simese Twins who recently died in Chicago. Board of Trade "works" the farmer and Stock Exchange "works" the banks. By being able to control the credit of the country these "two in one" wield the scepter of power over industry and trade and sometimes even the government. Some who read these lines will recall how "credit" has been shifted back and forth from the Eastern to the Western cities and from Western to the Eastern cities in an endeavor to create the impression that a high rate of interest was necessary to secure funds to "move the crops" or "finance manufacturing enterprises." It was an effort to curb this gigantic evil which brought into being the Federal Reserve system of banking; but even, this law has proved inadequate, because the makers of the law did not recognize the fact that they were dealing with a two-headed monster.

Suddenly, the farmer realized that he was borrowing through the Federal Reserve, at eight percent interest, money which was deliberately stolen from him during the year 1920, by the nation wide hold-up staged on Board of Trade.

The remedy now advocated which is very good, and would prove effective, if the two headed monster were first put in chains, is to create more money. If there is not enough money to "move the crops" and "turn the wheels of industry" at the same time then why not let the government make enough money? Were you not impressed with Isaac F. Marcossin's recent discussion in the Saturday Evening Post; when he told how Germany with her cheap money is literally driving us out of the markets of the world? American soldiers on the fields of France fought for an ethereal idealism, the Christian Church is at this moment in a death grapple with German rationalism, but our financiers on this side of the ocean have bound, roped and gagged American industry and agriculture and laid them at the feet of German capitalists.

The World Is Working for You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you.

Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

Reading advertisements is both interesting and profitable.

R. H. S. PLAYS A WONDERFUL GAME

Poston Saves Day For Rushville in First of Ninth When He Pulls Down Fly in Center

STARTS A TRIPLE PLAY

Local Athletes Go Nine Innings Without a Bobble and Hit The Ball When Hits Are Needed

The Rushville high school baseball team pulled off a triple play in the ninth inning, and staged a rally that won the game from Liberty in the last frame, Friday evening by the close count of 2 to 1. The game was one of the fastest played here this year, and the nine-inning contest was run off in one hour and 22 minutes.

Rodefer, pitching for Liberty and Lakin for Rushville, had things about their own way at all times, and in almost every inning only three men faced them.

The game was remarkable in many ways, and while Liberty made a couple of errors, the Rushville team played without a bobble. Rushville scored first in the sixth inning, and Liberty tied the score in the seventh, forcing Rushville to take their last bat in the ninth.

Rushville scored their first run in the sixth inning when two were out, Warth fanned and Nipp grounded out. Poston popped up in the infield, but the pitcher and third baseman ran together, causing a muffed ball, and an error for the pitcher. Poston stole second and scored when Stewart singled, and took second when the ball was being thrown in from the field in an effort to stop Poston at the plate. Stewart stole third, but died on base when Casady grounded out.

Liberty staged a wonderful fight in the next inning when Rose, first up, singled on a grounder near first. Rodefer doubled to left field, advancing Rose to third. McCashland sacrificed, scoring Rose, and advancing Rodefer to third. Thompson hit a roller to Stewart at third, who threw to home and cut off Rodefer at the plate. Grove made the third out on a roller, Nipp to Frazee.

With the score tied Rushville had only three men to bat in the last of the seventh and then Liberty went down one, two, three in the first of the eighth. In the last of the eighth, Warth for Rushville singled, and stole second and third, but died on base.

In the first of the ninth, Liberty's hopes ran big for a victory, when Rose and Ross each singled with no outs. Rodefer, next up, landed on the ball for a long drive to center field, which looked good for a hit, but Poston jumped into the air and pulled the ball down with one hand. Rose on second thought the ball was going over Poston's head and made for third, and Poston threw in to Stewart for an out, which would have been made automatically, and Ross, who was on first, attempted to make second base, but in retreating to first was tagged on the base line by Nipp, making three outs, or a triple play, before the ball had been placed back into the pitcher's box.

In the last half of the ninth, Stewart was first up and singled, stole second and third. Casady took first when the catcher missed his third

BOB VEACH SLUGGER OF THE OLD SCHOOL

One of Few Batters in Big Leagues to Use Free Swing.

No Matter What Pitcher Faces Him or What the Situation Is, Detroit Player Always Takes a Long Cut, "From the Ear."

There is only one 100 per cent natural hitter or real swinger in the American league and he is Bob Veach, left fielder of the Detroit Tigers.

Since Napoleon Lajoie led the batsmen, free swingers have become about as removed from baseball as the dodo from this earth.

Lajoie was a natural batsman, probably the greatest that ever faced a pitcher. Lajoie's success prompted batsmen to accept the free swing as the proper method at bat.

Lajoie passed and in his place came Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the game's greatest scientific batsman. Cobb never has been a natural batsman, never a free swinger. He is a chop batter, meeting the ball in front with a chop stroke.

His success brought about a change in batting style and the newcomers followed his example. The great batsmen that strung along with Cobb, Tris

Bob Veach.

Speaker, George Sisler, Eddie Collins and others, are all exponents of the chop stroke, all scientific hitters.

The natural batter "takes a nasty cut at the ball," in the parlance of the sport. "He swings from the ear with a perfect follow through." Veach is the only man in the American league that does this today. No matter what pitcher he opposes, what situation he happens to find himself in, Veach always swings with the same motion, always takes a long cut, "from the ear."

Philadelphia runners were second in the relay race in London, and nobody is charging that if they hadn't been asleep they might have been first.

H. A. Wilhelm '23, a forward on the Drake University basketball team both last winter and the winter before has been elected captain of the 1923 quintet.

Fordham university has adopted the one-year rule for intercollegiate competition. The school wants to be in a position to compete with any college in the country.

New Haven—Mac Aldrich, all American football star, hit two homers with the bases filled, Yale beating Pittsburgh 8 to 3.

LAST APPEAL IS DENIED

Cecil Collins, Tried Here For Embezzlement, Must Serve Term

Cecil Collins, former clerk of the Shelby circuit court, who was sentenced from the Hush circuit court two years ago on a charge of embezzlement, lost his last step in his legal fight for freedom, when the Supreme court Friday denied a rehearing of its decision affirming his conviction.

He was sentenced from one to five years by a jury here, the case being venued from Shelby county. He appealed to the higher court, but several months ago they affirmed the decision here, and now they have denied a petition to re-open the case.

C. S. LEE A SPEAKER

Mrs. Edwin B. Lee of North Sexton street, has received a program from her son Clifford S. Lee, formerly of this city and at one time editor of the Daily Republican, which details a meeting of the National Manufacturers of the United States, which held a convention in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York this week. The former Rushville man was on the program for an address on Wednesday, and other speakers included Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce.

KIDNAPPING, HE SAYS

Muncie, Ind., May 13—"It is a plain case of kidnapping," declared Dr. Benjamin Morrow, prominent physician, when he received a telegram early today stating his seventeen-year-old son, Leigh, a senior in the Muncie high school, had eloped with Miss Beatrice Burton, 17, telegraph operator.

feated by James Whitecomb, one of the ablest of Indiana's governors. Soon after leaving the gubernatorial office, he removed to Fort Wayne and resumed the practice of law. His professional career at Fort Wayne was honorable, but was too brief for him to obtain a lucrative practice. He died at Fort Wayne in 1845 and was buried in the cemetery at that place. While Governor Bigger was chief executive of Indiana, the state was overwhelmed with debt. The internal improvement system broke down the year before his election, leaving the people in the slough of despondency. Little was done during his administration to relieve the state from its financial embarrassment, that being reserved for his successor.

In February, 1841, the legislature appointed Governor Bigger "to prepare a compilation and revision of the General Statute Laws of the State, and to suggest such amendments, and alterations in any said Statutes, and to prepare such additions as he might deem proper, with a view to the adoption and enactment by the Legislature of a full and complete code of General Laws." This was a work Governor Bigger was well qualified to do. He entered upon it at once, but becoming convinced that he could not, of himself, prepare the revision in the time fixed by law, he asked the next legislature to allow him an assistant. His request was granted, and George H. Dunn became associated with him in the work. The revision was reported to the legislature in 1832, and passed that body almost as it came from the hands of the revisors. It was intelligently and carefully done, and is a monument of the painstaking care and legal ability of its author.

Hon. Finley Bigger, who was a brother of Governor Bigger, and who was a former resident of Rushville, and is well and favorably remembered by many Rushville citizens still living, in writing to Hon. W. W. Woolen, of his brother Samuel, says: "He was always in his young days fond of books, but the state of his health compelled him to moderate his desire. His early life was passed in the midst of great men—the western pioneers—who felled the dense forests and cultivated the farms, and at the same time built log houses, barns, school houses and churches, employed and paid teachers and preachers, lived at first on venison, wild turkeys and bear meat killed with their rifles. Sometimes they dropped the axe and hoe, shouldered their rifles and hastened to some point to defend their homes from an invasion of savages. A common necessity and a common danger made all these men brothers. Among such men, Samuel began his life and grew to manhood. No one knew him better than I, and it may look unseemly in a brother, but I only do just reverence to his name and memory when pronouncing him a great man in goodness, great in heart and great in soul."

Governor Bigger was a Presbyterian, and for many years was ruling elder in his church. He was a capable musician, being a good bass singer and a skilled performer on the violin. For many years he led the church choir and took much delight in the work. He was a man of fine form and presence. He was six feet, two inches high and weighed two hundred and forty pounds. He hair was dark, his eyes a hazel blue and his complexion dark. The expression of his face was kind and benignant, and denoted the goodness of his heart. His talent was not of the highest order, but he accomplished more in life than others more brilliant than he. He was a patriotic citizen, an incorruptible judge, and an executive officer of very respectable ability.

Indianapolis, May 13—Establishment of a radio market service in Indiana will be discussed with Governor McCray early next week by Lloyd S. Tenney, assistant chief of the bureau of markets, department of agriculture.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

BLANKS HERE FOR TRAINING CAMPS

Rush County Young Men May Make
Application for Citizens' Military
Training School

GUY NEWMAN HAS BLANKS

Government Will Defray All Ex-
penses For Month's Outing, if
Application is Accepted

Lieutenant Guy Newman of this city has received a supply of application blanks, which provides an opportunity to competent young men of this vicinity for a month of camp life offered in the citizens'
military training camps this summer.

Reports from all over the state
are to the effect that the opportunity to attend the summer camps is being enthusiastically embraced by the young men from several counties.

The government offers to pay all expenses including, transportation to and from the camp and to furnish uniforms, arms and equipment
as well as food, and necessary medical attention. In other words all necessary expenses are paid by Uncle Sam.

The young man is returned to his home after a month of camp life and he is under no further obligations to the government than if he had remained at home idle. Those who are fortunate enough to be selected will in addition to the pleasure of a month of camp life return to their homes with stronger physiques, with a knowledge of sanitation and how to care for themselves in the field.
They will have met young men from various parts of the country and formed new friendships. They will have learned the rudiments of military science and fitted themselves to assume in case of war a more responsible position.

The government expends all the money necessary to carry on these camps because in the long run, complete returns are assured in improved citizenship, a stronger, cleaner
manhood, a more devoted patriotism and in numbering among its young men a certain number who in time of emergency have a knowledge of military affairs.

Three courses will be given designated as the Red, White and Blue courses beginning about August 1.

Final selection of the successful applicants will be made shortly by the commanding general, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

MRS. SARAH O'DELL DIES

Funeral Services For Homer Woman
to be Held Sunday Afternoon

Mrs. Sarah O'Dell, almost eighty-four years of age, died at her home in Homer Friday following a prolonged illness from the infirmities of old age. The primary cause of her death was hardening of the arteries.
Mrs. O'Dell was the widow of the late William O'Dell and was well and favorably known in the Homer community. She was a faithful member of the Homer Baptist church for many years.

Surviving her are four daughters and one son—Mrs. Nettie Tombs of Elwood, Mrs. Olga Whitney of Clarksburg, Va., Mrs. Lottie Beckner of this county and Gertrude and Dale O'Dell, who lived at home. Funeral services will be held at the Homer Baptist church Sunday after-

SEVEN COUNTIES IN CENTURY-OLD CLASS

Decatur, Shelby, Henry, Morgan,
Marion, Rush and Putnam to
Celebrate Centennial This Year

KNOX COUNTY IS THE OLDEST

Rush county will not be the only one in Indiana celebrating a centennial this year. Six others will pass into the century-old class before the year 1922 is ended—Decatur, Shelby, Henry, Morgan, Marion and Putnam.
Morgan county was one hundred years old in March and Rush county was organized in April 1822. In the course of a few more months, a total of forty-four counties—or nearly one-half of the state—will have observed centennials. Indiana has ninety-two counties.

The oldest county in Indiana is Knox, which is 132 years old. It became a county in 1799. Clark followed eleven years later. Dearborn came two years after Clark and Harrison and Jefferson and Franklin and others followed. The growth of the state in counties from then on was rapid.

Counties which either have passed the one hundred year mark already or will do so before the end of the present year are Knox, Clark, Dearborn, Harrison, Jefferson, Franklin, Wayne, Warrick, Gibson, Washington, Switzerland, Posey, Perry, Jackson, Orange, Sullivan, Jennings, Pike, Daviess, Dubois, Spencer, Vanderburg, Vigo, Crawford, Lawrence, Monroe, Ripley, Randolph, Owen,

SURPLUS OF COAL HAS WORN DOWN

More Than 20,000,000 Tons Have
Been Eaten From Reserve
Since The Strike Began

40,000,000 TONS REMAIN

Five More Weeks Will See Threatened Fuel Shortage Material-
izing it is Stated

By FRED G. JOHNSTON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 13.—More than 20,000,000 tons of coal has been eaten from the reserve with which the nation embarked into the great coal strike six weeks ago.

Five more weeks will see the threatened fuel shortage materializ-ing, it was said at United Mine Workers headquarters here today.

The 63,000,000 ton surplus on hand when the suspension started April 1, has been worn down—despite non-union production—to approximately 40,000,000 tons.

The rate of consumption has been 8,000,000 tons a week, half of which was mined in the open shop fields.

When the existing surplus is cut in half five weeks hence, the industrial pulse of America will begin to flutter from lack of coal, it was said. The reserve of 20,000,000 tons on hand at that time will be the lowest in recent history of the nation and will result in a rapidly rising market.

"Then the government will have to step in and protect the public, a union official declared. He said the war time fuel administration may have to be revived next fall to regulate the price and distribution of coal, when the railroads are jammed with orders and the entire market will be congested with certain sections of the country actually suffering.

The strike with 650,000 men out has developed into a fight between the mine owners and their employees to determine whether the workers can be forced to surrender before a coal shortage with its accompanying public clamor forces the operators into interstate wage negotiations demanded by the miners.

In order to speed the shortage and end the strike, the union is seeking to organize non-union fields. That work had been slowed today with open shop production striking a temporary level around 4,000,000
tons a week.

Governor Samuel Bigger

Elected in 1840 While Resident of Rushville and Served One Term, But Was Defeated for Re-
election. Gov. Bigger Was Born in Ohio, Came
to This City in 1830 After Residence in Liberty
and Served as Representative in Legislature and
Judge of Circuit Court.

By J. T. ARBUCKLE

The local sources of information regarding the life of Governor Bigger are somewhat meager, and it became necessary to draw upon the State Library and from "W. W.
Woolen's Biographical and Historical Sketches of Early Indiana," and also from "Indiana Governors," in addition to what has been obtained locally, and from these sources we learn that Samuel Bigger was born in Warren county, Ohio, March 20, 1802. He was the eldest son of John Bigger, a western pioneer and for many years a member of the Ohio legislature.

The son loved his books, was fonder of them than of farm work, a disposition which remained with him while he lived. When eighteen years old he contracted a deep cold which settled on his lungs and came near costing him his life. His feeble health unfitted him for manual labor,
and determined his father to qualify him for a profession. He was prepared for college in the neighborhood and then entered Athens, O., University from which he graduated with honor. Subsequently he studied law and in 1829 removed to Liberty, Indiana, and commenced the practice of his profession. He remained at

SENATOR WATSON TO BE KEYNOTER

Consents to Act as Temporary
Chairman of Republican State
Convention and Make Speech

AT BEVERIDGE'S REQUEST

Governor McCray, Senatorial Nom-
inee, Mayor Shank and Mrs.
Corinne Robinson to Speak

Indianapolis, Ind., May 13.—Senator James E. Watson, at the request of Albert J. Beveridge, Republican nominee for United States senator, and a special committee headed by State Chairman Lawrence Lyons, consented yesterday to deliver the keynote address at the party's state convention in Tomlinson hall, May 24 and 25. Edmund M. Wasmuth of Huntington, who retired this week
as state chairman, is to be the permanent chairman of the convention.

The other speakers on the program for the first day of the convention, other than Senator Watson are Governor McCray, Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson of New York city, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt; Charles A. Bookwalter of Indianapolis and Mayor Shank.

Ex-Senator Beveridge will speak on the second day of the convention.
Senator Watson hesitated in accepting the responsibility of making the keynote address, it was announced by Chairman Lyons, as he feared
he would not have time to prepare the speech because of his work in the senate committees. The Indiana keynote speech is of special importance, it has been pointed out,
because the Hoosier convention will be the first important party gathering in the country.

Details of the convention program were worked out at a meeting of Chairman Lyons, State Secretary
Frederick E. Schortemeier, and four members of the state committee,
Daily E. McCoy of Versailles, Clyde
A. Wall of Lagrange, Lawrence
Cartwright of Portland and William E. Reiley of Indianapolis, at the Hotel Severin.

The members of this arrangements committee conferred with Mr. Beveridge at his home before the meeting. They later talked to Senator Watson over the telephone and informed him that he was the unanimous choice of Mr. Beveridge and the committee to serve as temporary chairman.

this phase of the work here.

Mr. Jones also heard the junior

TWO MEETINGS OF MEN'S BIBLE CLASSES

Gatherings Similar to One Here Last
Year Will be Held at Shelbyville
and Connersville

B. E. SMITH, CHICAGO, TO TALK

Two meetings of Men's Bible classes similar to the great meeting held here in the Coliseum last year,
are to be held in the Connersville district this year. The first of these will be held in the First M. E. church, Shelbyville, Sunday afternoon, the second in the First M. E. church, Connersville on May 21. Each meeting will embrace half the district,
and will include seventeen charges.
A difference from last year's meeting will be that classes of larger boys, over fifteen, will be included
this year.

The principal speaker for these meetings, the Rev. Bert E. Smith of Chicago, the head of the adult department of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, has expressed great interest in the gatherings, as they are the first of the kind held in rural territory and will serve as a suggestion for similar meetings throughout the country.

The meetings have been arranged
by Dr. John M. Walker, superintendent of the Connersville district, who will preside at both places. The men's and larger boys' classes of St.
Paul's M. E. church of this city, will attend the meeting at Connersville, and the orchestra of St. Paul's Sunday school, under the leadership of A. P. Wagoner, will furnish a half hour's program at the Connersville meeting, beginning at 2:15.

TO WORRY ALONG WITH LESS MONEY

Rush County Tax Collections Will
be Approximately $30,000 Less,
Spring Installment Shows

EXPENSES ARE REDUCED

Few Exceptions in Townships Where
New Roads Were Started and
First Bonds Due This Year

Rush county is going to worry along on about $30,000 less money
this year than she did last year.

This is indicated by the spring collection of taxes which amounted to $549,054.26 as compared with $564,400.13 paid on the first installment during the spring of 1921, a difference of $15,345.87.

This decrease in current taxes paid shows that the expenses of the various townships and corporations have been reduced this year, which made possible lower tax rates.

The assumption that tax collections for the year 1922 will be $30,000 less than 1921 is based on the fact that the two installments are equally divided and that the fall collections will show practically the same reduction as the spring collections.

This is not taking into consideration the sequestered taxes which were paid this year and were not included in last spring's installment.
They amount to several thousand dollars and would tend further to reduce the current taxes collected
this spring.

While some of the townships paid
more taxes this spring than they did last, the majority of them show a substantial reduction. Rushville city is an exception, the current taxes
this spring amounting to $92,210.87
as compared with $87,707.10 last spring. More than half of this increase is due, however, to sequestered taxes which have been paid since the close of the fall tax-paying period of 1921.

Posey, Orange, Anderson, Rus-selle and Richland townships are also exceptions, but the remainder of the townships and Glenwood and Carthage showed reductions in collections this spring which offset these increases, with $15,000 to spare.

The increases in these townships
in the main are due to new roads which were started last year and on which the first bonds are falling due this year.

The collections by townships this

CHICAGO POLICE TURN TABLES ON 2 BANDITS

"Shoot to Kill" Orders of Police
Bring Results Today When
Holdup Men Are Slain

SUSPECTS IN LABOR WAR HELD

Chicago, Ill., May 13.—Police turned tables in the war with gunmen early today when two bandits
were shot and killed.

"Shoot to kill" orders of Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris brought results when policemen killed two highway men. Policeman Kearney Driscoll killed John Broda, 19, following a holdup. Broda tried to shoot the officer but Driscoll beat him
to the draw.

An unidentified robber was shot to death by Policeman Patrick O'- Connell during an attempted holdup.
O'Connell in a fight was shot in the shoulder. Both men killed were identified by men who had been robbed.

Five persons were held today and questioned with regards to the labor war which resulted in the deaths of the two policemen. The suspects were grilled in an effort to get important evidence in the recent labor war which resulted in the death of the two policemen.

NO DAMAGE FROM STORM

No damage was reported today
from the storm which visited Rush county late Friday evening. It was particularly severe in Rushville, a heavy rain being accompanied by several flashes of lightning.

Indiana Crop Report

Indianapolis, Ind. May 12.—Winter wheat, rye and tame hay in Indiana show a considerable increase in the indicated production over the final output of these crops for 1921, according to reports for May 1, received by the co-operative crop reporting service and made public today. Rye and hay acreages show a small increase over last year, but the wheat acreage is somewhat less. Spring plowing and planting are far behind the usual schedule and practically no corn ground is prepared. Live stock is about as usual except the mortality of swine during the past year was quite heavy. The report follows:

Of the 2,053,000 acres seeded to wheat last fall, there will be abandoned approximately 102,000 acres or 5.0%, according to reports received to May 1, leaving 1,951,000 acres for harvest, compared with 2,012,000 acres harvested in 1921 and 2,070,000 acres harvested in 1920. The principal reason for abandonment is attributed to floods and excessive rains filling low places in fields and killing the plants. Hessian fly damage was reported from only a few localities and practically no damage was caused by freezing weather during the winter. The condition of the crop on May 1, was 89 percent of normal and indicates a total production for the state of 34,942,000 bushels, which is about the average for the State. The final estimate of last year's production was 24,144,000 bushels.

The rye acreage for grain in Indiana this year amounts to 315,000 acres and is an increase of approximately 9,000 acres over last year. The condition was 93 percent of normal on May 1, and indicates a total production of 4,809,000 bushels, compared with 3,972,000 bushels harvested last year and 3,892,000 in 1920.

The tame hay acreage in Indiana shows an increase of approximately 67,000 acres over last year and amounts to 2,316,000 acres. The wild hay acreage is practically the same as last year and amounts to approximately 21,000 acres. The condition of all hay on May 1 was 94 percent of normal and indicates a production of 3,222,000 tons of tame hay and 27,000 tons of wild hay. Last year's final estimate on the production of tame hay was 2,429,000 tons and in 1920 it was 2,844,000 tons. The wild hay estimate for last year was 22,000 tons and for 1920 it was 26,000 tons. There is 14.5 percent of last year's crop still on farms and amounts to approximately 355,000 tons which is somewhat in excess of the usual amount at this time of the year.

Up to May 1, only 29 percent of the plowing for spring planting and sowing had been done in the state, all of which was seeded to oats or barley. No corn ground had been prepared at this time. For this date it is the least ground under preparation for many years, and is attributed to wet condition of the soil resulting from heavy and continuous rains during March and April.

Pastures on May 1, were reported at 93 percent of normal in Indiana, compared with 92 percent for the same date last year.

The mortality of live stock in Indiana during the past year was slightly in excess of the rate for the preceding year, being 18 per 1,000 for horses and mules from disease; for cattle it was 18 per 1,000 from disease and 5 per 1,000 for exposure; for sheep it was 26 per 1,000 from disease and 10 per 1,000 from exposure; for lambs it was 53 per 1,000 from both disease and exposure. Swine of all ages shows a very heavy mortality rate for the year, being 78 per 1,000 from disease and is attributed to a severe outbreak of cholera in practically all sections of the state late last fall.

The condition of live stock in Indiana on May 1, compared with normal was 96 percent for horses and mules, 95 percent for cattle, 93 percent for sheep and 92 percent for swine.

Farm conditions in Indiana have changed but little during the month. Practically all the oats were seeded from two to three weeks later than usual and have no corn ground worth mentioning has been prepared to date, which may have a tendency to decrease the acreage of this important crop. Conditions in the bottom lands are far from satisfactory as operations there cannot be started before the middle of the month, because of the wet soil.

TRYING TO BREAK UP
SECRET ORGANIZATION

"The Shifters" Activities Are Bring-

FORBIDDEN BY H. S. RULES

(By United Press)
Terre Haute, Ind., May 13.—School authorities in Terre Haute are trying to break up an organization known as "The Shifters," which has been recruiting members rapidly in the past few weeks among students and young people who are not in school.

The organization without a fad as it is known by national educational leaders, is beginning to bring inquiries by parents, according to Principal Conner of the Wiley high school.

"Under school rules, forbidding the organizing of secret organizations among the students, 'The Shifters' is forbidden," Conner said today.

I think it is just a fad. Members that we have asked to give up the pins have done so willingly, but we are trying to check the thing."

INDIANA HEALTH
EXPOSITION MAY 19

Many Lives Saved by Reason of Visual Education Exemplified
in Exposition, is Belief
OF SCIENTIFIC NATURE

Program Will Include More Than Six Thousand People in Demonstrations, Playlets, Etc.

"Live a Little Longer" is the slogan adopted by the Indiana Health Exposition, which will be held at the State Fair Ground in Indianapolis, Indiana, May 19-27. Dr. J. N. Hurty, State Health Commissioner, is of the opinion that ten thousand lives may be saved annually in Indiana by reason of visual education exemplified in this exposition. Chambers of Commerce throughout the state have been requested to appoint co-operating committees on the subject of the exposition in order that its lessons may be brought home to every community. The exposition will be of a popular scientific nature and will exemplify the progress made during the past twenty-five years in medicine, surgery, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, hospitalization and social service. More than ninety state and national organizations will participate. Each city which has an institution performing some specific health service, which might properly be exemplified in this exposition is offered exhibit space in the exposition without charge.

The program of the exposition will include more than six thousand people in demonstrations, exercises, health playlets and the like.

The production of the exposition will cost in the neighborhood of two hundred thousand dollars, borne by private subscriptions and admissions, which will be placed at a nominal figure.

Indiana and Purdue Universities are preparing splendid exhibits having to do with medicine, child hygiene, dairy products and nutrition.

The United States Bureau of Mines, United States Public Health Service, Bureau of Standards and other government departments will be represented with exhibits of health and safety work. The main features of the Indiana Health Exposition will be taken to Portland, Oregon for reproduction in the Oregon State Health Exposition next October.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Broken Spur" Mystic.
The big outdoors is always interesting. In their feature for today, the Mystic theatre is showing a picture laid in the great forests, valleys and mountains of the Northwest. Nature in her majestic grandeur is unfolded upon the screen. The laying of a railroad in this virgin country with its many men, horses and steam shovels feverishly working like a lot of ants; the cutting down of big trees and then sawing them up into merchantable lumber, are all shown as they are really taking place in this storehouse of nature. To this are added the beautiful views of the forests, the streams, the mountains and peaceful valleys. With Jack Hoxie as the featured player, supported by an excellent cast, "The Broken Spur" is a strong, interesting Western picture.

Say It Now.

Some one we know is going to die one time.

Their good deeds will appeal to us, and will be emphasized by the death that overtakes our friends.

Before the grass begins to grow over them we will have many kind words to say to them. These sterling qualities will be extolled, and their faults will be overlooked or forgotten.

That is the way of the world. But it might be different. We might commend their good qualities while they are still here to reap the benefits of that commendation.

A kind word means much to those who are striving to do right. It encourages them to remain steadfast in their laudable undertakings, to persevere in the path of honor, and to extend a helping hand to others who need more enlightenment.

Say it to them in life. They can't hear you when dead.

Hothouse Plants.

Some fond parents make a great mistake. They bring their children up as they would hothouse plants.

They are continually kept indoors, are seldom allowed to enjoy the companionship of other children, and are denied that life in the open that puts red blood into human veins.

Years later, when they develop weak or abnormal minds, or show a lack of capacity for success in the world of affairs, their deficiencies become a handicap to them and a source of grief to the parents who could have prevented such a condition had they adopted the right course in the beginning.

The sun shines for little children as well as for adults. Let them enjoy it to the full if you would have them justify the love and devotion you bestow upon them.

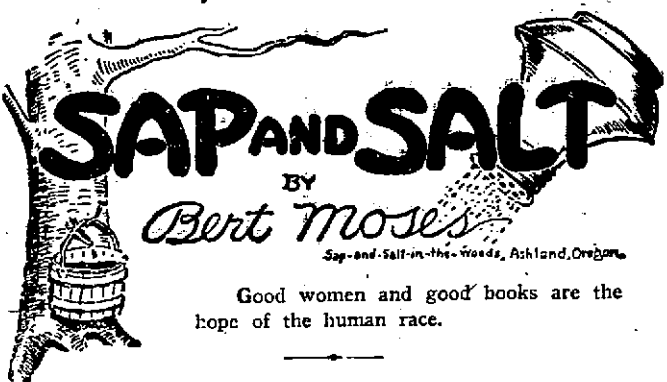

European Relief

In one last desperate effort to drag the United States into European entanglements, the internationalists have at last begun to quote the former crown prince of Germany. The Lords and Ladies of the British Empire join with the Hun and the Bolshevik in the plea to the United States to come and bear their burdens, pay their debts, turn their grindstones, fight their battles, settle their quarrels, and become the world's great goat. It would be funny if there could be anything humorous in a spectacle so utterly ridiculous.

PEOPLE'S SAYSO

Would Like to be at Centennial

Dear Sir: A friend living in your beautiful town sent us one of your papers of the 20th of April, in which you gave a history of William B. Laughlin, my grandfather, as being entitled to be called the first and most prominent citizen of Rushville and Rush county.

My father was Harmony Laughlin and I am the last of the family of eight, four boys and four girls, four blue-eyed and four black-eyed, four right-handed and four left-handed. I belong to the blue-eyed and left-handed part of the family. I am very much pleased to know that the article was written by an old school teacher, Claude Canham, of mine and whose father was our beloved pastor for many years and his mother was a great friend of my mother and the whole family were lovely Christians.

We would love to be at the Centennial there, hoping that it will be a success. I remain,

Yours respectfully,

KATE LAUGHLIN BLISS.

The Farmer's Plight.

It is a grave error to think that evils of long standing will cure themselves of their own accord. It is also a grievous error to imagine that these evils cannot "come back." Men who are great leaders in reform movements grow old, or die, or land in jail, or sell out to the opposition; but the evils go on, seemingly, forever.

Board of Trade and Stock Exchange in Chicago and New York cities are as closely related as were the Simse Twins who recently died in Chicago. Board of Trade "works" the farmer and Stock Exchange "works" the banks. By being able to control the credit of the country these "two in one" wield the scepter of power over industry and trade and sometimes even the government. Some who read these lines will recall how "credit" has been shifted back and forth from the Eastern to the Western cities and from Western to the Eastern cities in an endeavor to create the impression that a high rate of interest was necessary to secure funds to "move the crops" or "finance manufacturing enterprises." It was an effort to curb this gigantic evil which brought into being the Federal Reserve system of banking; but even, this law has proved inadequate, because the makers of the law did not recognize the fact that they were dealing with a two-headed monster.

Suddenly, the farmer realized that he was borrowing through the Federal Reserve, at eight percent interest, money which was deliberately stolen from him during the year 1920, by the nation wide hold-up staged on Board of Trade.

The remedy now advocated which is very good, and would prove effective, if the two headed monster were first put in chains, is to create more money. If there is not enough money to "move the crops" and "turn the wheels of industry" at the same time then why not let the government make enough money? Were you not impressed with Isaac P. Marcossin's recent discussion in the Saturday Evening Post; when he told how Germany with her cheap money is literally driving us out of the markets of the world? American soldiers on the fields of France fought for an ethereal idealism, the Christian Church is at this moment in a death grapple with German rationalism, but our financiers on this side of the ocean have bound, roped and gagged American industry and agriculture and laid them at the feet of German capitalists.

The World Is Working for You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you.

Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

Reading advertisements is both interesting and profitable.

STARTS A TRIPLE PLAY

Local Athletes Go Nine Innings
Without a Bobble and Hit The Ball When Hits Are Needed

The Rushville high school baseball team pulled off a triple play in the ninth inning, and staged a rally that won the game from Liberty in the last frame, Friday evening by the close count of 2 to 1. The game was one of the fastest played here this year, and the nine-inning contest was run off in one hour and 22 minutes.

Rodefer, pitching for Liberty and Lakin for Rushville, had things about their own way at all times, and in almost every inning only three men faced them.

The game was remarkable in many ways, and while Liberty made a couple of errors, the Rushville team played without a bobble. Rushville scored first in the sixth inning, and Liberty tied the score in the seventh, forcing Rushville to take their last bat in the ninth.

Rushville scored their first run in the sixth inning when two were out, Warth fanned and Nipp grounded out. Poston popped up in the infield, but the pitcher and third baseman ran together, causing a muffed ball, and an error for the pitcher. Poston stole second and scored when Stewart singled, and took second when the ball was being thrown in from the field in an effort to stop Poston at the plate. Stewart stole third, but died on base when Casady grounded out.

Liberty staged a wonderful fight in the next inning when Rose, first up, singled on a grounder near first. Rodefer doubled to left field, advancing Rose to third. McCashland sacrificed, scoring Rose, and advancing Rodefer to third. Thompson hit a roller to Stewart at third, who threw to home and cut off Rodefer at the plate. Grove made the third out on a roller, Nipp to Frazee.

With the score tied Rushville had only three men to bat in the last of the seventh and then Liberty went down one, two, three in the first of the eighth. In the last of the eighth, Warth for Rushville singled, and stole second and third, but died on base.

In the first of the ninth, Liberty's hopes ran big for a victory, when Rose and Ross each singled with no outs. Rodefer, next up, lunched on the ball for a long drive to center field, which looked good for a hit, but Poston jumped into the air and pulled the ball down with one hand. Rose on second thought the ball was going over Poston's head and made for third, and Poston threw in to Stewart for an out, which would have been made automatically, and Ross, who was on first, attempted to make second base, but in retreating to first was tagged on the base line by Nipp, making three outs, or a triple play, before the ball had been placed back into the pitcher's box.

In the last half of the ninth, Stewart was first up and singled, stole second and third. Casady took first when the catcher missed his third

BOB VEACH SLUGGER
OF THE OLD SCHOOL

One of Few Batters in Big Leagues to Use Free Swing.

No Matter What Pitcher Faces Him
or What the Situation Is, Detroit Player Always Takes a Long
Cut, "From the Ear."

There is only one 100 per cent natural hitter or real swinger in the American league and he is Bob Veach, left fielder of the Detroit Tigers.

Since Napoleon Lajoie led the batsmen, free swingers have become about as removed from baseball as the dodo from this earth.

Lajoie was a natural batsman, probably the greatest that ever faced a pitcher. Lajoie's success prompted batsmen to accept the free swing as the proper method at bat.

Lajoie passed and in his place came Ty Cobb. Cobb, the game's greatest scientific batsman, never has been a natural batsman, never a free swinger. He is a chop batter, meeting the ball in front with a chop stroke.

His success brought about a change in batting style and the newcomers followed his example. The great batsmen that strung along with Cobb, Tris

Bob Veach.

Speaker, George Sisler, Eddie Collins and others, are all exponents of the chop stroke, all scientific hitters.

The natural batter "takes a nasty cut at the ball," in the parlance of the sport. "He swings from the ear with a perfect follow through." Veach is the only man in the American league that does this today. No matter what pitcher he opposes, what situation he happens to find himself in, Veach always swings with the same motion, always takes a long cut, "from the ear."

C. S. LEE A SPEAKER

Mrs. Edwin B. Lee of North Sexton street, has received a program from her son Clifford S. Lee, formerly of this city and at one time editor of the Daily Republican, which details a meeting of the National Manufacturers of the United States, which held a convention in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York this week. The former Rushville man was on the program for an address on Wednesday, and other speakers included Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce.

KIDNAPPING, HE SAYS

Muncie, Ind., May 13—"It is a plain case of kidnapping," declared Dr. Benjamin Motrow, prominent physician, when he received a telegram early today stating his seventeen-year-old son, Leigh, a senior in the Muncie high school, had eloped with Miss Beatrice Burton, 17, telegraph operator.

Feated by James Whitecomb, one of the ablest of Indiana's governors. Soon after leaving the gubernatorial office, he removed to Fort Wayne and resumed the practice of law. His professional career at Fort Wayne was honorable, but was too brief for him to obtain a lucrative practice. He died at Fort Wayne in 1845 and was buried in the cemetery at that place. While Governor Bigger was chief executive of Indiana, the state was overwhelmed with debt. The internal improvement system broke down the year before his election, leaving the people in the slough of despondency. Little was done during his administration to relieve the state from its financial embarrassment, that being reserved for his successor.

In February, 1841, the legislature appointed Governor Bigger "to prepare a compilation and revision of the General Statute Laws of the State, and to suggest such amendment, and alterations in any of said Statutes, and to prepare such additions as he might deem proper, with a view to the adoption and enactment by the Legislature of a full and complete code of General Laws." This was a work Governor Bigger was well qualified to do. He entered upon it at once, but becoming convinced that he could not, of himself, prepare the revision in the time fixed by law, he asked the next legislature to allow him an assistant. His request was granted, and George H. Dunn became associated with him in the work. The revision was reported to the legislature in 1832, and passed that body almost as it came from the hands of the revisors. It was intelligently and carefully done, and is a monument of the painstaking care and legal ability of its author.

Hon. Finley Bigger, who was a brother of Governor Bigger, and who was a former resident of Rushville, and is well and favorably remembered by many Rushville citizens still living, in writing to Hon. W. W. Woolen, of his brother Samuel, says: "He was always in his young days fond of books, but the state of his health compelled him to moderate his desire. His early life was passed in the midst of great men—the western pioneers—who felled the dense forests and cultivated the farms, and at the same time built log houses, barns, school houses and churches, employed and paid teachers and preachers, lived at first on venison, wild turkeys and bear meat killed with their rifles. Sometimes they dropped the axe and hoe, shouldered their rifles and hastened to some point to defend their homes from an invasion of savages. A common necessity and a common danger made all these men brothers. Among such men, Samuel began his life and grew to manhood. No one knew him better than I, and it may look unseemly in a brother, but I only do just reverence to his name and memory when pronouncing him a great man in goodness, great in heart and great in soul."

Governor Bigger was a Presbyterian, and for many years was ruling elder in his church. He was a capable musician, being a good bass singer and a skilled performer on the violin. For many years he led the church choir and took much delight in the work. He was a man of fine form and presence. He was six feet, two inches high and weighed two hundred and forty pounds. He had dark hair, his eyes a hazy blue and his complexion dark. The expression of his face was kind and benignant, and denoted the goodness of his heart. His talent was not of the highest order, but he accomplished more in life than others more brilliant than he. He was a patriotic citizen, an incorruptible judge, and an executive officer of very respectable ability.

RADIO MARKET CONSIDERED

Service May Be Established In Indiana By Bureau Of Markets.

Indianapolis, May 13—Establishment of a radio market service in Indiana will be discussed with Governor McCray early next week by Lloyd S. Tenney, assistant chief of the bureau of markets, department of agriculture.

Vegetable and livestock quotations would be the chief reports carried now, according to George C. Bryant, Indiana representative of the department of agriculture. The report would vary with the seasons. The service probably would be started out of Indianapolis, Bryant said.
